How might rising interest rates affect your mortgage?

The Bank of England has raised interest rates which means bigger mortgage bills for some homeowners.

At the start of February 2022, the Bank of England raised interest rates for the second time in three months from 0.25% to 0.50% to combat soaring inflation. This move will have a knock-on effect as mortgage lenders raise interest rates in response, which will increase monthly payments for some borrowers.

What does a rise in interest rates mean for your mortgage?

Anyone without a fixed-rate mortgage is likely to see their borrowing costs rise, although how they are affected will depend on the type of product they have. Your adviser can help you assess your mortgage deal and figure out ways to make some much needed savings.

- Only borrowers with a mortgage that moves up or down with the base rate will be affected by the interest rate change.
- This includes tracker mortgages and standard variable rate mortgages (which you revert to when a mortgage deal ends).

Fixed-rate mortgages

Most mortgage holders are on fixed-rate deals so won't see any change in their monthly payments. This is because the interest rate you pay stays the same for the length of the mortgage deal.

Standard variable rate mortgages

You will usually be moved on to a standard variable rate when your existing tracker or fixed rate mortgage deal ends. For example, if you take out a two-year fixed deal and you don't remortgage, you will be moved to the lender's standard variable rate. The rate is likely to be considerably higher than what you were paying before, so your monthly payments will increase, and lenders can raise the standard variable rate whenever they want.

Tracker mortgages

Homeowners with a tracker mortgage will find that their interest rate payments will now go up, but when this happens will depend on their lender. Tracker mortgages are a type of variable rate mortgage that follow the Bank of England's interest rate. So, when official interest rates go up, the rate on your tracker will rise as well.

As a rule, they do not exactly match the base rate, but are set a level just above it. For example, if the lender's rate is the base rate +1%, the interest you'd pay in total on your loan would be 1.5%.

Whatever type of mortgage you have, we can advise you about how the interest rate rise might affect you and address any questions or concerns you have.

How to save on your mortgage costs

The best thing you can do is to speak to your financial adviser. For example, if you're on a tracker mortgage, they will be able to advise whether changing to a fixed-term deal to protect yourself from any further rises is a good idea. They will also let you know about the fees involved when making changes to your mortgage. If you are on a standard variable rate you can switch at any time, so with interest rates rising, your adviser can help you look at available fixed-rate deals.

Homeowners on fixed deals don't have to worry about their mortgage going up until their current term ends. Most lenders will let you lock into a new deal six months before the current one ends so it's a good idea to plan.

Whether you're looking to remortgage or are a first-time buyer, we can help you find the most suitable deal for your circumstances and help keep your costs down.

Stamp duty and land tax

What you need to know

Following the lowering of the stamp duty threshold to £250,000 in July, the rate will drop further in October for buyers in England and Northern Ireland.

Stamp duty land tax applies to increasing portions of a property's price, starting at £40,000. There are different rates depending on how much you are paying for the property, whether you're a first-time buyer, where you live, and where the property is located within the UK. It's good to be aware of how much – if any – stamp duty you will pay, whether you're a first-time buyer, second homeowner, buy-to-let owner or in another situation.

Stamp duty bands from 1 October 2021

In England and Northern Ireland, as of 1 October 2021, you will pay stamp duty on a residential property's sale price over the first £125,000 (from 1 July 2021 up until 30 September, it was the first £250,000).

Property purchase price range	Stamp duty to be paid
Up to £125,000	0%
£125,001 - £250,000	2%
£250,001 - £925,000	5%
£925,001 - £1.5 million	10%
Over £1.5 million	12%

For example, if you buy a house for £295,000, the stamp duty will apply as follows:

- 0% on the first £125,000. You pay: £0
- 2% on the next £125,000. You pay: £2,500
- 5% on the final £45,000. You pay: £2,250
- Your total stamp duty: £4,750.

First-time buyers

If you're a first-time buyer in England or Northern Ireland, it means you are about to buy your first main residential home and have never owned a freehold or leasehold on a property before (in or out of the UK):

- You will pay no stamp duty on the first £300,000 of your new home.
- Then, you will pay 5% on anything from £300,001 to £500,000.
- If your property price is above £500,000, the stamp duty from the rates paid by non-first-time buyers applies.

Second homes and buy-to-let properties

For those who are in the market for a second property, whether it's a buy-to-let or a second home, they will pay an additional 3% in stamp duty on top of those existing rate levels.

When is stamp duty not required?

There are some situations when you may not need to consider stamp duty. For example:

- When no money or form of payment is exchanged for a land or property transfer.
- If a property is left to you in a will.
- The property is transferred after a divorce or dissolution of a civil partnership.
- If the property you are buying is freehold costing less than £40,000.

These are a few examples in England and Northern Ireland. Scotland and Wales may have additional exemptions, so it's worth speaking to an adviser in those areas if you are buying a property.

Land and buildings transaction tax Scotland

Buyers in Scotland will pay a land and buildings transaction tax (LBTT) when buying a property, in place of stamp duty.

The Scottish system came into place in 2015, and is set up in a similar tiered tax rate level to that in England:

Property purchase price range	LBTT to be paid
Up to £145,000	0%
£145,001 - £250,000	2%
£250,001 - £325,000	5%
£325,001 - £750,000	10%
Over £750,001	12%

If you are a first-time buyer in Scotland, you are exempt from LBTT for the first £175,000 of your property's sale price:

Property purchase price range	LBTT to be paid
Up to £175,000	0%
£175,001 - £250,000	2%
£250,001 - £325,000	5%
£325,001 - £750,000	10%
Over £750,001	12%

For those in Scotland buying a second home or buy to let property, the additional rate of tax they will pay is 4% on top of the standard rates above.

When is stamp duty not Land transaction tax in Wales

In Wales, the land transaction tax (LTT) took over from stamp duty in 2018.

This means if you are in Wales and buying your main residential home (and do not own any other property) the LTT only comes into effect after the first £180,000 of the property's sale price.

However, a big difference in Wales compared to the rest of the UK is that there are no exemptions for first-time buyers, so the tiered system applies to all types of buyers (whether first-time or not).

For those in Wales buying a second home or buy to let property, the additional rate of tax they will pay is 4% on top of the standard rates below.

Property purchase price range	LTT to be paid
Up to £180,000	0%
£180,001 - £250,000	2%
£250,001 - £400,000	5%
£400,001 - £750,000	10%
£750,001 - £1.5 million	12%
Over £1.5 millionv

Specialist mortgages and your holiday let

If you're in the market for a holiday let and need a specialist mortgage, what should you be aware of?

When might you need a specialist mortgage? The clue is in the name – if your situation is different from the normal criteria of a traditional mortgage, then a specialist product could be the answer. This especially applies to people in the market for a holiday let.

When do you need a specialist mortgage?

A specialist mortgage could apply if you're buying a high value home or already have a home and want a second charge mortgage in order to carry out renovations. They could also suit those who are self-employed, looking for a holiday or buy-to-let (BTL) property or people who do not meet the standard criteria for a mortgage. Whatever the reason, seek financial advice from an expert in the specialist mortgage field to find the best deal for your situation.

Holiday lets

When it comes to a mortgage for a property you intend to use as a holiday let, your regular income is considered in terms of the loan value, regardless of the amount you estimate might come in from the eventual rental. This is to ensure you can afford the mortgage payments during times when rents ar not coming in, or when you are using the property. Although staying there yourself is one of the advantages of a holiday let, you can't live there on a permanent basis as it would affect the terms of the mortgage.

Some specialist mortgage products for holiday lets offer a maximum loan-to-value (LTV) of a certain amount for the mortgage. So, if your holiday let costs £200,000, and the LTV from the specialist product is 70%, then you will be able to get a loan of £140,000 from your lender and your deposit would need to be £60,000.

Lenders have their own criteria, which could include the following:

- Applicants need to be over the age of 21 and in stable employment.
- Your main income should not come from another rental or investment.
- Borrowers will need to prove their income exceeds a certain amount annually.
- A minimum deposit (usually around 25% of the property value).
- Rental projection from a holiday letting agent may be required, covering off-peak seasonal periods and high-demand times of year.
- The rental property itself must meet certain criteria (for example, being located within the UK and functioning as a single-family dwelling).

Holiday let vs buy-to-let

You might think that there is little difference between a holiday let mortgage and a buy-to-let mortgage (BTL), but there are a few. A BTL mortgage will contain different conditions and requirements, such as the need for an assured shorthold tenancy being in place (AST).

Using a BTL property as a holiday letting – without informing your lender – is a breach of the agreement and could undermine your mortgage contract and credit rating. The main difference between the two types of mortgages is how the loan size is calculated, and the estimates of rent the properties will receive. A holiday let will tend to bring in less rental income due to its seasonal nature.

Furnished holiday lets come with tax advantages that BTL properties do not.1 They are treated as a business, which means you can claim capital gains tax relief on any profits. Owners can also claim capital allowances to cover the cost of furnishings and furniture, and equipment such as refrigerators and washing machines.

There are more allowable expenses for a holiday let, compared to a BTL, including:

- letting agents' fees
- accountants' fees and certain legal fees
- mortgage interest
- building and contents insurance
- maintenance and repairs to the property
- utility bills, council tax, ground rents and service charges.

Speak to a financial adviser to work out what's best for your situation if you are looking for a specialist mortgage.

Some specialist mortgages are not regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority.
